EXPLOSION IN LOS ANGELES.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 8.—Mystery surrounds two explosions which wrecked the Spadishko, a Serbian club here, early today.

The club has been the headquarters of the Serbs here for some years, and since the European war began threats have been made against members of it.

Shortly after midnight an explosion, supposedly of dynamite, shook the building. This was quickly followed by another, which demolished the club and damaged many of the surrounding buildings. The ruins are being searched today for possible victims of the disaster, although it is believed no one was in the building at the time of the outrage.

Salem Business Men To Help Mt. Angel Celebrate

Just to assist Mt. Angel in celebrating the completion of the Clackamas Southern railroad in that place, and to show the good fellowship of the people of Salem, and our friendly interest, arrangements are being made by many of our business men to go to Mt. Angel on the 14th and take part in the celebration.

Up to today the following men have signified their intentions of going: Mayor Harley O. White, C. S. Hamilton, Hal D. Patton, F. G. Deckebach, Ralph D. Moore, W. M. Hamilton, D. W. Eyre, August Hokenstein, C. P. Bishop, Frank Meyer, John Farrar, Chas. H. Fisher, and W. H. Steusloff. The party will leave in autos at 10 o'clock next Wednesday morning from the Commercial club.

I do not use drops or drugs of any kind for examining the eyes, as they are dangerous; as a rule 9 cases out of 10 they leave a bad after effect. Practical experience is what is necessary to make the right eye corrections. Dr. M. P. Mendelsohn, 210-211 U. S. Bank building.

Governor Withycombe delivered an address to the students of the Chemawa Indian training school upon the occasion of the Arbor day exercises held at that institution this morning, and returned to Salem on the morning train. He will deliver an address at the armory this afternoon at the celebration of Appomattox day, being conducted by the G. A. R. and W. R. C.

When a man makes a life study of subject he is a specialist in that profession. His practical experience teaches him to know what it requires and what will help you or will be injurious to you. Therefore, I will give you optical service of the highest degree at a very reasonable cost. Dr. M. P. Mendelsohn, 210-211 U. S. Bank building.

The Knights of Pythias are preparing to enjoy a sumptuous banquet next Tuesday evening. The assurance of a banquet arises from the fact that a membership contest is now on between two teams, and as is customary in such contests the loser pays the penalty of providing for the evening's entertainment when the final vote is counted. W. B. Summerville is captain of one team and John P. Davis leader of the other. George Winchell is chancellor commander of the Knights of Pythias and Jas. W. Cox keeper of the records and seals.

Secretary of State Olcott, State Architect W. C. Knighton and Geo. Thustford, superintendent of the capital building and grounds, are making preparations today for providing awnings for the capital building and the supreme court building for the approaching warm season. Fifty new awnings will be required for the windows of the new supreme court building, on the east, west and south sides, and about 25 will be needed to replace the old and worn out ones on the capital building. There are but two builders for the contract, the Willamette Valley Tent & Awning company and the A. C. Pike Tent & Awning company, both of Portland.

All the latest in military boots and pumps at moderate prices will be found at De Voe's.

An excursion will be run from Portland and Salem next Monday morning on the electric to Corvallis, where a council of the Knights of Columbus will be instituted. The train will leave Portland at 7:45 o'clock in the morning and arrive in Salem about 9:15. The return will be made that evening. About 25 Knights of Columbus and their wives are expected to go from Salem. The train will be run as a special each way.

All kinds of light lunches for the light horse at Jimmy Goffe Club, 420 Court.

Arrangements for the great farmers' meeting to be held here a week from tomorrow, April 17, are progressing in fine shape. The P. E. & S. railway band has volunteered to furnish the band music for the occasion, and the Oregon theater has also kindly volunteered to assist in the day's entertainment with their vaudeville artists. Besides these two the University Glee club will take part in the program, giving several selections. Speakers from Corvallis have been secured, and everything points to a very successful and beneficial meeting.

Generosity Causes Arrest.

Seattle, Wash., April 9.—J. P. Worden, an inspector in the weights and measures department, is today acclaimed champion law enforcer of the world. Worden arrested Benzon F. Pearce, a fruit dealer, because he gave extra measure on a box of strawberries, the size of which is established by city ordinance. Worden says that while purchasers would not be swindled, the result would be a confusion in the sizes of strawberry boxes on the market, thus obscuring the fixed standard.

Senator I. N. Day, of Portland, was in Salem this morning, looking after the printing of the report of the commission which made the investigation of the proposed The Dalles-Celilo Columbia river power development project, of which he was chairman. Senator Day was chairman of the commission and the report submitted is of a voluminous character, the printing of which was provided for by the last legislature. Senator Day conferred with Secretary of State Olcott concerning the advisability of printing a colored map, showing the ownership of the land surrounding the project suitable for settlement, in connection with the report.

J. D. Ogden, who has for the past two years been superintendent of this district of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, left last evening for Bellingham, Wash., to assume the duties of superintendent, with that city as headquarters. This comes in the way of a promotion for Mr. Ogden, as in his new field he will have charge of 18 sub-agents, while here he had but seven. In addition to the greater opportunities for work, the new position includes a recognition of his services to the company in the way of a material advance in salary. Mr. Laurendine, of Portland, who has been with the company as sub-agent, will be promoted to this territory as superintendent. W. L. Spangler, of San Francisco, traveling deputy superintendent, will have charge of the local office until the arrival of Mr. Laurendine.

Constable C. C. Kinzer, of Hubbard, came up from that city this morning to return two young fellows, warrants for whom were sworn out under the names of John Doe Bailey and Richard Roe Hawschaw, wanted for larceny of an overcoat and beating a restaurant man named Johnston out of the price of two meals. The prisoners went into the restaurant and ordered two meals yesterday, and, not having any funds, they pawned an overcoat in security for the food. When the proprietor's back was turned, however, they made their getaway with the coat and boarded a Southern Pacific freight out of town. Constable Kinzer telephoned the sheriff's office here and Deputy Needham met the train and placed the culprits under arrest.
